

ATD Teaching and Learning Sub-Team
November 27, 2017 at 3:30 p.m.
Lincoln Hall, Laura Lee Room

Present: Dave Kietzmann, Dr. Ruth Lindemann, Dr. Stefanie Davis, Ashley Hargrove, Rebecca Doss

- The January Teaching Excellence Academy will be scheduled on Wednesday, January 10, 2018. The academy is typically scheduled on the Thursday of in-service, but that day has been reserved as an HLC work day.
- Ashley shared information from Kathy Sturgeon. At the last meeting, the team selected Marji Larson, Amber Anderson, and Phillip Langley as possible presenters for the selected topic of mindset. Unfortunately, none of the proposed presenters are able to participate at this time. Maurice Miller volunteered to present at the session. After discussion, the team decided to postpone this session for the August in-service to allow more time for preparation. The team feels it will be important to gather more information about how faculty are currently using growth mindset in the classroom.
- Dave suggested planning the January session on using open resources in the classroom, with a focus on how to use the resources legally. Discussion ensued, and the team agreed to offer this topic in January. Dave suggested Dr. Wendy Brown to be one of the presenters, as she has extensive experience using open resources in her classes. Dr. Stefanie Davis also uses open resources and volunteered to present at the session. Dr. Ruth Lindemann will also participate in the presentation to provide guidance on how to use open resources and follow copyright and common use rules. Dave will ask Dr. Brown about presenting.
- The evaluation for January's Teaching Excellence Academy will be the same evaluation that has been previously used. No changes are necessary at this time.
- The team decided to review the critical thinking research provided by Dr. Ruth Lindemann at a future team meeting. A critical thinking session may be planned for the January 2019 Teaching Excellence Academy.
- The next Teaching & Learning meeting will be scheduled during January's in-service. A date/time will be provided once the agenda is finalized.

The meeting adjourned at 4:20 p.m.
